

Limitation of Liability

These pages contain information with regard to the services and products provided by BenchMark Finance. The content is designated solely for informational purposes and none of the information held here represents a purchase or sale recommendation of goods, shares or other securities, nor is it designated to serve as a basis for some investment decision. BenchMark Finance is not liable and accountable to any of its clients or third parties for accuracy of information or market rates provided by the client, nor for delays, inaccuracies, errors, interruptions or gaps caused by them, for direct or indirect losses caused by or as a result of the already mentioned delays, inaccuracies, errors, interruptions or gaps and/or disruption of services. BenchMark Finance is not held liable for the content of any other websites related or not related to the present website nor for any consequences of actions of yours, based on the content of another website.

The foreign exchange trade and investment in derivatives may be highly risky and may result in both loss and profit. The foreign exchange trade and investment in derivatives is not suitable for a large part of the non-professional investors and only such means that could be at risk should be used. The website does not take into consideration the investment purposes, financial position and the special requirements of the individual consumers. You should carefully consider your financial position and consult with your financial adviser whether it is appropriate to invest or undertake any transactions in your situation. The website of BenchMark Finance is accessible in every part of the world. This might be the reason why the previously described securities and financial instruments might not be legally permitted for all investor groups in every territory or the access to such websites might be subject to legal constraints. Users, to whom such a constraint applies, do not have a right to access to this website.

Visiting this website does not make the user a client of BenchMark Finance and BenchMark Finance does not hold any responsibilities or obligations to such user.

Other companies can promote their services through links and banners, located in the website. BenchMark Finance is not liable for the services, provided by any other website or entity which you can visit as a result of such links and banners. If you decide to act on the basis of such offers or information, you do this completely at your own risk.

The Bulgarian version of this website is original and BenchMark Finance is not held liable for wrong, inaccurate or misleading translations of the website into other languages.